2022 VENDOR APPLICATION FORM

All vendors must read, accept, and adhere to the 2022 Market Regulations. Only vendors who grow, raise, bake, or make the products they plan to sell are eligible to vend at the Kweseltken Farmers' and Artisan Market. All vendors MUST provide their own tables and chairs. For your application to be considered complete, you will need to submit a signed 2022 Vendor Contract / Liability Waiver.

Farmers' markets are classified as an essential service and the Kweseltken Farmer's & Artisan Market will operate during the pandemic in 2022. For a full description of precautions and the latest updates, please visit the <http://www.bccdc.ca/>. Thank you for your cooperation.

If you are wanting to sell any foods other than fresh, whole fruits and vegetables please review the Guideline for the Sale of Foods at Temporary Food Markets. Fulfill any necessary requirements through the First Nations Health Authority (FNHA). If you are selling prepared, ready-to-eat foods it is essential that you review the FNHA Regulations and establish whether your food is low-risk or high-risk. Some low-risk foods are permit exempt, but high-risk foods will require a permit from the First Nations Health Authority or other valid BC Health Authority. For further information please contact Fiona Goorman, Environmental Health Officer, Fiona.Goorman@fnha.ca or at 250.851.4829.
